A Eloquent Speech from Wade Hampton.
The ceremonies of unveiling the statue recently erected by the surviving members of the Washington Light Infantry, of Charleston, to their dead comrades who fell in the late civil war, took place Thursday, in the presence of an immense crowd. Gen. Hampton was the orator of the occasion, and made an able speech. He said:

Let us, then my friends and comrades, cling with unrelaxing grasp and unshaken confidence to the faith that is in us. Let not the angry threats of oppression or the siren voice of temptation drive or allure us to forsake it. Above all, be not misled by that unmeaning jargon which tells you that your cause was submitted to the arbitrament of arms, and that the sword has decided that cause against you. The sword has never, nor will it ever, decide a principle or establish a truth. It can only make often done, overthrow a just cause and make might take the place of right; but it can never reverse the immutable laws of God, make what is evil appear right in His sight. A noble cause, upheld heroically by honor, courage and patriotism may die along with its supporters. A great truth never died; but eternal as the Godhead from which it springs, it lives forever, amid all the changes of dynasties, the wrecks of empires, and the death of nations. It is too, as false in fact as in logic to assert that the sword can or does decide justly between right and wrong. With the sword the Goths and Vandals drenched the fair fields of Italy with the best blood of her sons. It gave nearly half the world to Mahomet. It allowed the Turks to trample out the civilization of Greece. Its keen edge has dismembered Poland. It has left Hungary bleeding at the feet of the oppressor. It has turned over Spain and Portugal to the tender mercies of the Saracen, and on this continent and in our day, directed by unscrupulous power against the throats of prostrate States, reeking with parietal blood, it enforces the laws which it alone has made. Tell me not, then, that the sword can rightfully turn the scales of justice. It is the exponent of tyranny, not the arbitrator of truth—the badge of the tyrant and the executioner, not the symbol of justice. It is not at all inconsistent with these views that we, as a conquered people, should observe scrupulously the terms dictated by the sword and accepted by us. We can do this and should do it, in perfect good faith; but we should claim and exercise the God-given right of freedom of opinion. We acknowledge that the cause, for which these men died in lost, but we should be false to that cause, were we to admit that they were, because of failure, necessarily wrong. We believe that they were right, and we therefore honor and respect their memory. If they were right, time will vindicate their action and record their fame. If wrong,

"It was a grievous fault,
And grievously have they answered it."

NORTH CAROLINA.—We have endeavored to arouse the public sympathy and indignation on behalf of the unfortunate people of North Carolina by repeatedly calling attention to the measures which are being taken by Governor Holden to secure a further lease of power. Under the pretext that certain portions of the State are in an insurrectionary condition, he is levying a colored regiment, which he is to quarter upon the people of those sections, for the manifest purpose of intimidating them at the ensuing elections. That his work may be effectually done he has given the command of his black Pretorians to a man known as Colonel Kirk. This man has just issued his first proclamation calling on "Union men to rally to the defence of their State." He does not condescend to attempt to conceal his real objects by summoning recruits to join his regiment in order to co-operate with the authorities in repressing any alleged disorders. He wants Union men only, and particularly "soldiers of the old North Carolina Second and Third Federal troops." "The blood," he cries, "of our murdered countrymen, inhumanly butchered for opinion's sake, cries from the ground for vengeance." By way of exasperating to the uttermost the people whom he is gathering together, he tells them "the horrible murders and other atrocities committed by the Rebel K. K. K. and 'Southern chivalry,' on gray haired men and helpless women, call in thunder tones on all loyal men to rally in defence of their State." The "hand of justice," then, is to smite the "Southern chivalry" in the shape of one thousand blackguards, who "are wanted immediately, to serve six months, unless sooner discharged." Long before six months elapse justice will be satisfied, the elections be over, and Holden's power be perpetuated. And while this iniquity is being concocted, the radical philanthropists are prating of the reign of progress and humanity, Congress is glorifying the beauties of reconstruction and the American people are serenely holding up the model Republic as a noble example to the world. And soon, within a day's journey of Washington, Kirk's black squads will be roaming over certain portions of North Carolina. And should some victim, outraged beyond endurance, forget that he is the subject of an arbitrary government, and remembering only that he was an American citizen, strike down the leader of these Janizaries, why, then, we shall have another yell from the North over the rebellious condition of North Carolina, and another martyr will be enshrined as a victim to the Ku-Klux and Southern chivalry."—Baltimore Gazette.

LOST HIS SPEECH FROM A FIRE-CRACKER.
On Monday evening, a little boy named Lambert Knorr, about ten years of age, was playing with some other boys in front of his father's house on Liberty street, Allegheny, when a fire-cracker by some accident was thrown into his mouth, where it exploded. He fell to the ground and was taken into the house, when a physician was summoned. The boy seemed uninjured in every respect, except that his voice was completely gone. It has not yet returned, and it is feared that he will be permanently speechless. —Pittsburg Post.
